Aiken was accosted by a stranger in Union station, who told a tale of woe; how his partner had not showed up with their luggage and money to take them east to-night.

The man said he must go on the next

Incidentally he asked Alken if he had any money and the oil country man at once answered that he had $120, and did not hesitate a moment in saving that he would accept from the stranger a check for $500 on a Minneapolis bank as collateral for a loan of $70. A COMPROMISE SCALE

Agreed upon by the Wheeling Steel Company and its Men.

IT IS ALREADY IN EFFECT THERE

Thoughouly Signed Yesterday-Mos of the Men Seem Satisfied, and all get Somewhat of an Advance-It is as Annual Agreement without the Ninety-Day Clause,

Yesterday the scale of wages to prevail at the Wheeling steel plant, at Benwood, was signed by a committee representing the workmen on one side and by President C. R. Hubbard on the other. It was a compromise scale, varying somewhat from the one offered the men by President Hubbard, but varying considerably more from that proposed by the men early in August. All of the employes affected get a larger or smaller increase, and nearly all seem satisfied, though there are those among the workmen who still think their interests were sacrificed. The new scale is in the form of an annual agreement, and the clause of the late wage contract which required nine-ty days' notice of a demand for a change by either side does not appear in it. As was stated in the INTELLIGENCE yesterday, the mon rejected the scale offered by President Flubbard, after a vain attempt to barmonize conflicting elements in their own ranks. Some of those interested, however, were not satisfied with this, and they drew up an agreement to continue at work under the terms offered by the company. This was circulated and numerously signed. Those who opposed accepting the scale saw that they would be in the muority, and as there is no organization among the employes, their places could easily be filled. Therefore all were rather forced into abiding by the decision of the signers of the agree-mont, and it was finally decided to sug-gest certain modifications, which was done yesterday at a conference at Ben-wood, and Practices 11 wood, and President Hubbard made the concessions requested.

The scale goes into effect at the next payday, and as the wages received then cover work done on Sunday and since, it is really a retroactive agreement to But for the compromise brought about in the way described the old scale would have remained in force till November 1. The new schedule in-creases wages from five cents per day up to 18 per cent, according to the class of
